

A Guide on finding your Federal local MP contact details

We are asking you to contact your Federal Member of Parliament (MP) because the NDIS has cut funding to swallowing therapies.

We need more MPs to understand this important issue if we are going to reverse these life threatening cuts to swallowing therapies.

Find out who your MP is:

The first step is to find out which electorate are you in.

If you don't know which electorate you are in you can go to:

<https://electorate.aec.gov.au> and type in your suburb or postcode.

Then to find the name of your MP, click on the name of the electorate.

Your MP's name will be listed in bold.

What are the contact details for your MP?

You can find your MP's contact details here.

What next?

Use the A guide on what to say to your Federal MP, which has tips on what to say to your MP

Home » Electorate Search

Find my electorate

Use this search to find

- which federal electorate you live in
- a profile and Map of your federal electorate
- the name of the incumbent House of Representatives Member

How to search

To find your federal electorate enter your criteria, then select either locality, postcode or name from the drop down menu and then click on the Search button. Searches are not case sensitive.

Note: In some cases a locality/suburb or postcode may be in more than one federal electorate. If this is the case, please contact the AEC to confirm which federal electorate you live in.

This data is subject to regular updates. The last update of electorate information took place on 19 November 2018.

Electorate results below reflect electorates that will be in place at the next federal election.

Despite electorate changes, your local member remains the person elected on the electorates in place at the previous federal election or subsequent by-election.

Profiles and maps of electorates in place at the 2016 federal election are available on the AEC website.

Search Federal Electorates

by

Locality or Suburb ▼

Find